My Visit with a Sheriff

This book belongs to

When I grow up, I really want to be a sheriff.

But I can't wait! So when Sheriff Davis visited our school, I asked him how a little kid like me could be a sheriff.

"You do have to be a grown-up to be a sheriff," he said with a smile.

"But guess what...there's lots of things you can do to make you and your friends and your home and your neighborhood safe." "Like what?" I asked him.

Know your...

- home address
- telephone number including area code

- family's first and last names

- emergency phone numbers

Sheriff Davis told me to learn the "Bad Guy" rules about strangers.

Bad guys and strangers don't look like monsters.
They can be anyone.

It's important to say
NO to drugs and alcohol.

If you find a weapon or something dangerous, DON'T touch it.

Get away and tell a grown-up you trust.

Here are some other things to keep us safe. If someone is bullying you:

- Stick with your friends

- Walk away from the bully

- Ask an adult for help

"That's a lot to remember,"
I told Sheriff Davis.

"But if I start now, I'll be ready to be a sheriff when I'm grown up."
Sheriff Davis smiled. "You will," he said, "you will."
